

Increased Steel Orders Seen in Year-End Report

The following year-end statement was released this week by J. D. McCall, president of the Columbia-Geneva Division of United States Steel Corp.:

Increased orders for the products of Western steel mills are anticipated by the second quarter of 1961 to meet the continuing economic growth here. This expected improvement in the steel market will find Columbia-Geneva Division of U.S. Steel in a strong position to meet customer requirements as a result of development programs and improvements to existing facilities which are being carried out despite the downturn in steel orders in recent months.

MAJOR NEW developments in our steelmaking facilities in the West include a continuous annealing (heat treatment) line at Pittsburgh

Works; a new coal drying plant now in operation at Wellington, Utah; a new raw materials research laboratory nearing completion at Geneva Works near Provo, Utah; rebuilding of the No. 2 blast furnace at Geneva Works, enlarging it to more than 1,500 construction work under way on a new iron ore mine near Lander, Wyoming, to provide an important additional source of ore for Geneva blast furnaces; a fourth reheat furnace in the Geneva rolling mills, and a scheduled start in 1961 on a new installation at the Provo, Utah, plant for a temporary mill for hot rolled coils of steel.

THE AMOUNT of steel actually consumed in 1960 puts this year among the highest in history. A shift from inventory building to inventory reduction resulted in an overall drop in steel production, however. In the coming year, particularly the latter half, we do not expect to see steel output depressed by inventory reduction, and this should result in a stimulating upturn in the level of steel-making operations. Western construction activity is expected to continue at a high rate with a resulting strong demand for steel.

The competitive struggle for customers undoubtedly will continue to intensify. Producers of competing materials and foreign steel mills provide a formidable threat. I am confident, however, that our determined efforts to develop new and improved steels for our customers and our stepped up activity in customer service and promotional work will place us in a favorable competitive position not only for the next 12 months, but for the long-range future as well.

Cancer Survey Results Given At Year's End

Only one of every eight men and one of every five women suffering physical complaints contact their doctors though four of every five men and almost nine of every 10 women have such complaints.

This information has come to light in the first annual summary of health habits of 1,100,000 Americans whose progress is being charted by the American Cancer Society.

As a part of national program more than 8,000 Cancer Society volunteers in California are checking the health progress of 135,000 members of 65,000 families in the state. The six year survey started in September, 1959, and will continue until 1965.

FIVE OF every eight men and 55 percent of all women interviewed reported the presence of one of the physical complaints identified among the seven danger signals of cancer while 30 percent of the men and 25 percent of the women reported more than one of these danger signals.

Dr. Justin J. Stein, M.D., Director of the Cancer Research Institute at the University of California at Los Angeles and Executive Committee Chairman for the American Cancer Society in Los Angeles, pointed out that the seven danger signals do not by themselves indicate the presence of cancer, but do indicate that a health checkup is in order.

HE COMMENTED that the danger signals may identify a high risk group more susceptible to cancer and emphasized that medical science is now saving one of every three cancer patients. One of every two could be saved using present methods of treatment provided cancer is diagnosed while the disease is in a localized stage.

Among women participating in the study indigestion was the most common complaint while coughing was the complaint made most often by men.

INCLUDED in the study are 484,000 men and 616,000 women and within this group are about three percent of all the adult population between ages 45 and 74.

Factors being compiled include urban versus rural residence, educational background, occupations, smoking and eating habits, use of medication and vitamins, exercise and family medical history.

Early returns cause hope that the survey may contribute to the eventual control of cancer. The Cancer Society's program is the greatest mass epidemiological study ever undertaken and represents a sampling of sufficient size to be valid and reliable.

Single ticket sales for the 20th annual Bowling Proprietors' Association of America All-Star Tournament have been opened in Southern California, according to an announcement by Harold H. Hollock, Managing Director of the Southern California Bowling Proprietors' Association, co-sponsoring organization for the All-Star.

HEAD START . . . Lyle O'Haro, grand knight of the Los Crusados Council, Knights of Columbus, gets an early peek at 1961 as he receives invitation to the Council's annual New Year's Eve Ball from Keith Hood, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hood of Torrance. The Ball will be presented at the council chamber, 214 Avenue I, Redondo Beach. John McVey and Louis Fucci are co-chairmen.
